Interpretation:

Community centres house access to services like pools, fitness centres, and libraries, while providing an atmosphere to meet other community members. For someone new to Vancouver, it may be beneficial to reside near a community centre for easy access to services and to gain a sense of community quicker. For tourists and visitors, locating the nearest community centre can be key when borrowing books, going for a swim, or simply needing to use the washroom. The map also has borders of each neighbourhood, so that it is clearer which area the centre primarily serves.
